

Brian Bianco has been Curtain Call's Education Director for nearly twenty years. He received his BA in Theatre from Southern Connecticut State University and is a graduate of the National Shakespeare Conservatory. He's worked professionally in acting, directing, design, scenic artistry and stage management. His resume includes Stamford Center for the Arts, Long Wharf Theatre, the Lamb's Theatre, National Theatre for the Performing Arts, Bridgeport Free Shakespeare and Radio City Entertainment. He's been directing and producing youth theatre programs, school drama programs and theatre for young audiences since 1995.